PM GatiShakti, coordination across infrastructure ministries to help improve coal logistics

Exim News Service

NEW DELHI, Dec. 5

A MEETING was organised under the chairmanship of CEO, NITI Aayog to review and discuss the mission of Coal India Ltd to produce 1 billion tonnes of coal by 2025-26. Coal remains the primary domestic fuel for India as well as the single largest commodity transported across the country; thus, the mining, supply and consumption of coal is central to the growth of the Indian economy.

With the thrust of the Ministry of Commerce and Industry on the development of evacuation infrastructure and the work being undertaken by the Ministry of Railways, Ministry of Road Transport and Highways and Ministry of Ports Shipping and Waterways in that direction, the production capacity of coal is ahead of its domestic demand. In line with PM GatiShakti, the development of integrated infrastructure with coordinated efforts by all infrastructure ministries lies at the heart of further augmentation of coal production and evacuation capacity through multimodal connectivity.

As discussed in the meeting, rail remains the dominant evacuation mode for coal, with an aim to expand its modal share from 64% to 75% by FY 2030. To cater to the increased coal despatch in Chhattisgarh and Odisha, 14 railway infrastructure projects are under implementation in line with GatiShakti principles. Railway line capacity is adequately addressed for coal transportation up to FY 2026. In order to promote coal production by private companies, the Railways has also taken steps such as reduction in conversion fee from private siding to private freight terminal from Rs 1 crore to Rs 10 lakh.

The Ministry of Railways has also developed Freight Operations Information System (FOIS) to monitor the movement of freight trains, which also calculates freight and other charges. Besides, the Centre for Railway Information Systems (CRIS) offers Freight Business Data Integration (FBDI) for FOIS that can be used by customers for integration with their internal MIS networks.

A similar facility called Port Community System (PCS) has been developed by the Ministry of Ports, Shipping and Waterways to provide a platform for secure exchange of information between government agencies, terminal operators and traders. Digitalisation across infrastructure ministries shall contribute towards augmentation of coal evacuation capacity in the country.

Further, with the advent of PM GatiShakti NMP, the status and type of roads (national highways/state highways/rural roads/PMGSY roads) providing the first and last mile connectivity of coal mines shall also be accessible to the Ministry of Coal and Ministry of Road, Transport and Highways to take necessary steps of integration and capacity enhancement. The Plan will holistically look at the interventions required to be taken for reduction in logistics cost for coal evacuation and thus lead to efficiency gains in the sector, stressed a release.

Knee-jerk reactions to Omicron variant putting global supply chain at risk, caution international transport organisations

Exim News Service

LONDON, Dec. 5

WORLD leaders' knee-jerk reactions to the Omicron variant are putting transport workers and the global supply chain at greater risk of collapse, warn international transport organisations and unions representing road, air and sea transport.

Cross-border transport workers including seafarers, air crew and drivers, must be able to continue to do their jobs, and cross borders without overly restrictive travel rules, to keep already ailing supply chains moving, they stressed in a release.

IATA, the International Air Transport Association, ICS, the International Chamber of Shipping, IRU, the International Road Transport Union, and ITF, the International Transport Workers' Federation, have jointly called for governments to not re-impose border restrictions that further limit the freedom of movement of international transport workers, and learn from the lessons of the last two years.

last two years.

One week since the World Health Organization (WHO) designated the new Omicron strain of Covid-19 as a "variant of concern", at least 56 countries have re-imposed varying degrees of travel restrictions.

The transport bodies, which represent more than $20 trillion of world trade annually and 65 million global transport workers across the supply chain, have called for an end to the rushed and fragmented approach to travel rules by governments. Now is the time for heads of state to listen to industry leaders and workers, by taking decisive and coordinated action together to ease strain on the supply chain, and support an exhausted global transport workforce during the busy holiday season, they said.

The transport bodies also expressed frustration that governments were reneging on clear steps issued to world leaders in September to:

- ★ Guarantee the free and safe movement of transport workers
- ★ Prioritise transport workers to receive WHO-recognised vaccines

receive WHO-recognised vaccines

★ To adopt lasting travel and health protocols developed by industry for seafarers, drivers and air crew, as endorsed by WHO, ILO, IMO and ICAO

★ To create globally harmonised, digital, mutually-recognised vaccination certificates and processes for demonstrating health credentials (including vaccination status and Covid-19 test results), which are paramount to ensure transport workers can cross international borders

★ Increase global vaccine supply by all means at our disposal in order to expedite the recovery of our industries

A crisis meeting with the World Health Organization (WHO) and the International Labour Organization (ILO) to discuss the recommendations, and the impact that travel bans and other restrictions in response to the Omicron variant will have on transport workers and the global supply chain is scheduled for Monday December 6, 2021, the release informed.

Premium surcharge seen continuing

LONDON:

THE premium surcharge, which overstayed in the trans-Pacific route and later in other ex-Asia routes for nearly a year, is expected to continue at least through the first half of 2022 due to firm demand and worsening schedule reliability, despite reports of easing in some regions post China's Golden Week holiday, said a report by S&P Global Platts.

It quoted the global head of ocean freight for a major cargo owner as saying that "Premiums would most likely stay on East-West trades and also Asia-Oceania due to strong demand and absence of new capacity, stubborn port congestion in the US, Europe and Asian transshipment hubs and the blank sailing programs".

The fact that coronavirus is still around with many areas in Europe going into shutdown, and the US and other regions susceptible to disruptions too, makes it look like the premiums will stay, a carrier source said. "Unless the availability of vessels and empty containers improve, there will always be too many cargoes for carriers to choose from. Shippers will obviously need to pay premiums to get timely loading."

The premium rates gained prominence in November 2020, when carriers started levying extra fees for confirmed space or timely bookings amid vessel shortage and shipment delays. While initially the premium fees were around $1,000-$2,000 per container, it has increased two-to-four times in the last one year, the report highlighted.

Global recovery continuing but with reduced momentum, says Outlook

Exim News Service

PARIS, Dec. 5

THE global recovery is continuing but its momentum has eased and is becoming increasingly imbalanced according to the OECD's latest Economic Outlook. The failure to ensure rapid and effective vaccination everywhere is proving costly with uncertainty remaining high due to the continued emergence of new variants of the virus.

Output in most OECD countries has now surpassed where it was in late-2019 and is gradually returning to the path expected before the pandemic. However, lower-income economies, particularly ones where vaccination rates against Covid-19 are still low, are at risk of being left behind.

The Outlook projects a rebound in global economic growth to 5.6% this year and 4.5% in 2022, before settling back to 3.2% in 2023, close to the rates seen prior to the pandemic, said a release.

Reduced momentum

The strong pick-up in activity seen earlier this year is losing momentum in many advanced economies. A surge in demand for goods since economies reopened, and the failure of supply to keep pace, have generated bottlenecks in production chains. Labour shortages, pandemic-related closures, rising energy and commodity prices, and a scarcity of some key materials are all holding back growth and adding to cost pressures. Inflation has increased significantly in some regions, early in this recovery phase.

Alongside cost pressures from manufacturing supply bottlenecks and food price increases, imbalances in the energy market are a key factor driving up inflation in all economies. Gas prices have risen sharply, notably in Europe, and risks are high, with storage levels around 28% lower than they would normally be at this time of the year. Rising food and energy costs are inevitably hitting low-income households the hardest.

Inflationary pressures are proving stronger and more persistent than expected a few months ago. Consumer price inflation in the OECD is now projected to start fading in 2022, before moderating as key bottlenecks ease, capacity expands, more people return to the labour force and demand rebalances. The Outlook underlines the risk that continued supply disruptions, perhaps associated with further waves of Covid-19 infections, may result in longer and higher inflationary pressure.

Another risk, exposed by the emergence of the Omicron variant in recent days, is a worsening health situation due to Covid-19 resulting in further restrictions that would jeopardise the recovery. The Outlook says ensuring better access to vaccines for all must be an urgent policy priority. A faster, better coordinated, worldwide vaccine roll-out is not only essential for saving lives and preventing the emergence of new variants, but would also help tackle some of the bottlenecks undermining the strength of the recovery by allowing factories, ports and borders to reopen fully.

A potential sharp slowdown in China, if activity in the property market declined abruptly amid concerns about the financial soundness of some of the largest real estate developers, could also disrupt the global recovery. The impact of such a slowdown would spread rapidly to other countries, particularly if it generated uncertainty in global financial markets and added to the current bottlenecks in supply.

The Economic Outlook says the removal of pandemic-related government support will need to be gradual to avoid weakening activity. But changes in the composition of spending are required, to provide space for higher levels of public investment and accommodate the deep economic transformation of addressing climate change. Clear guidance by fiscal and monetary authorities on their policy strategies will be crucial to maintain market confidence and public support, said a release.

New cross-channel ferry link from Le Havre to Ireland

Exim News Service

LE HAVRE, Dec. 5

A NEW weekly ferry service has commenced, provided by Brittany Ferries, between Le Havre, France and Rosslare in Southeast Ireland. It has been available from November 12, 2021.

The new service is provided by the Cotentin with a single round trip every weekend, said a release.

Details of the service

- ★ 1 weekly round trip from the ferry terminal
- ★ Crossing time: 19 hours

- ★ Closing time for accompanied freight: 1 h before departure

- ★ Closing time for unaccompanied freight: 2 h before departure

- ★ A service exclusively for freight - driver accompanied and unaccompanied

- ★ Ferry capacity: 120 freight units and 120 cabins for drivers

- ★ Electrical supply: 60 outlets

- ★ Hazardous cargos accepted

HAROPA PORT, a key resource for trade with Ireland

The ferry terminal is ideally located at the entrance to Le Havre with direct, fluid access to the motorway network.

The advantages of a 100% sea route compared to the landbridge are:

- ★ Saving of up to ten hours in transit time from the Dublin area to the main Paris-Lyon-Italy corridor

- ★ No Customs issues

"This new route between Le Havre and Rosslare is an important step. France's leading port needed to have its own freight link to Ireland. Economically, it's obvious. In almost a year, the number of freight vehicles transported by sea from Ireland has tripled. I have no doubt that this increased interest in the maritime route and the new Le Havre-Rosslare service are destined for a bright future. But it's also strategically essential for our company: we must be present wherever there is a real potential for growth as part of our return to competitiveness," said Mr Jean-Marc Roué, Chairman of Brittany Ferries.

"This new service consolidates our partnership with Brittany Ferries, a specialist in cross-channel traffic, reinforcing its presence in Le Havre. It meets the expectations of shippers and hauliers in the post-Brexit context: a direct maritime link to the Greater Paris consumer area and its Rungis wholesale market. This roll-on freight service supplements HAROPA PORT'S deepsea and short-sea offerings and provides an additional solution for supply chain optimisation. It also makes the basing of warehousing in our local area even more relevant," commented Mr Stéphane Raison, CEO, HAROPA PORT.

Seahorse Ship Agencies represents HAROPA PORT for Commercial and Marketing activities in India.

Warehouses & silos being developed at ports

Exim News Service

NEW DELHI, Dec. 5

THE Ministry of Ports, Shipping & Waterways, through the Sagarmala Development Company Limited (SDCL), had issued Expression of Interest (EoI) in December 2020 targeted at private operators/investors for the development of product-specific warehouses/silos at various Major and non-major ports, Multi-modal Logistics Parks located near port areas, and alongside the National Waterways.

A total of 26 companies submitted their applications in response to the EoI and 71 interests were received for the development of warehouses/product-specific warehousing at various locations across the country. The information received in response to the EoI has been forwarded to the relevant port authorities for taking the projects forward in discussion with the interested companies. As of now, there is no requirement of a separate policy for implementation of these projects as the existing policies are sufficient to deal with the related matter, the Union Minister for Ports, Shipping and Waterways, Mr Sambananda Sonowal, informed Parliament last week.

Congestion easing at US West Coast container ports

Exim News Service

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 5

US West Coast container ports have been making significant progress towards easing congestion of loaded and empty containers, and retail shelves and warehouses are currently close to pre-pandemic stock levels, as per a White House analysis. However, a White House briefing questioned the size and power of container shipping alliances, called for greater funding for and oversight from the US maritime regulator, the Federal Maritime Commission (FMC), and said that reforms to shipping laws would help in getting goods in and out of the country more quickly and cost-effectively. According to October data, goods movement in the supply chain is more than ever before, more goods are reaching stores, and the velocity of cargo leaving the ports of Los Angeles and Long Beach is increasing, said a report

Expounding on locution of “Merchant” in a Bill of Lading (B/L)

Adv. (Capt.) Ashwani Jhingan

CLOSE reading of the fine print on the reverse of a carrier B/L shows a definition of merchant that has strayed far from Merriam-Webster or the Oxford English dictionary definition. The definition of the “merchant” in marine contracts of carriage has evolved as carriers attempt to include as many of those implicated in the transaction as possible.

“Merchant” clause defined on a carrier B/L

*Merchant* includes the shipper, holder, consignee, receiver of the goods, any person owning or entitled to the possession of the goods or of this B/L and anyone acting on behalf of any such person.

“Merchant” means that every freight forwarder making a booking as ‘agent’, or named as a consignee or notify party on an inbound bill of lading from overseas, could be included in this broad definition in the ‘merchant clause’ and could face financial consequences. The evolving definition of the merchant by carriers can have a big impact on a freight forwarder’s risk.

What can be done to mitigate the risks associated with the merchant clause?

It is becoming more complex to act as simply a “notify” party when you consider the liability you face. Be aware of possible risks. Remember, in most cases the booking is assumed by the carrier to be subject to the terms and conditions of the contract of carriage, until that document is issued.

When making an “export” booking, make it clear to the “carrier” the principal for whom you are acting – name the “shipper”. Otherwise, it is entirely possible that the booking agent will be held responsible under the “merchant” clause should anything happen before the contract is issued.

What to do on export shipments?

On “export” shipments, even where you act as “agent” only, and even where the bill of lading is to port or terminal only, it is now reasonable to assume that you must follow up on every shipment to ensure delivery has been effected. Increasingly freight forwarders face demands from carriers for payment on demurrage and other charges for shipments that were held, refused, abandoned or became otherwise undeliverable at destination. Make sure you know whether you’re acting as an agent or a principal.

Fundamentally, a “forwarder”, when acting as an “agent”, must be very careful to preserve his status, as anything that could be perceived as changing this status can and could come back to haunt them. Remember that if you appear as the “shipper” and you issue your own “HBL”, it binds you to the terms and conditions of the “carrier’s B/L” and hence you must act accordingly.

Case Study: Is a freight forwarder a “merchant” under a bill of lading? (Borden Ladner Gervais LLP-7 June 2013)

In the liner trade, carriers purport to bind a wide range of parties to the terms and conditions of their B/Ls by defining the “Merchant” with whom they purport to contract very broadly. It is safe to assume that the shippers, consignees and endorsees listed on B/Ls are parties to the contract of carriage, but what about a freight forwarder identified solely as a “forwarding agent”?

Based on the definition of the term “Merchant” in the terms and conditions, shipping lines typically take the position that as holder of the B/L or as the party acting on behalf of the shipper or consignee, the freight forwarder is “jointly and severally” liable with the other parties for any charges owed to the Line. Freight forwarders often respond that they act solely as agents, are not a party to the B/L and incur no direct liability towards the Line.

This is the problem that arose between DHL and CMA CGM in a Canadian case.

DHL had booked with CMA CGM’s (carrier) Canadian agent, the carriage of 68 containers between Montréal and Ho Chi Minh City in Vietnam.

Booking Confirmations were issued by CMA CGM to DHL. In its B/L Instructions, “DHL” named its client, “HSB”, as the “shipper”, “Tan Mai” as “consignee” and itself as a “Forwarding Agent”. The B/Ls were issued and released to DHL by CMA CGM. DHL paid the freight to CMA CGM and the 68 containers were carried to destination where they were discharged.

Unfortunately, the “shipper HSB” did not pay DHL. DHL, in turn, invoked a “freight forwarder’s lien” and “refused to release the CMA CGM B/Ls to the shipper” without payment. As a result, the containers sat in Vietnam accumulating demurrage and storage charges.

CMA CGM took proceedings in France against the “shipper, consignee and DHL (as “Forwarding Agent”). DHL responded with an action in Canada seeking a declaration of non-liability. In the context of a motion for a stay of the Canadian proceedings in favour of the French proceedings, the Court had to determine “whether DHL was a party to the CMA CGM Bills of Lading and thus bound by the jurisdiction clause in that contract”.

The Court considered both the terms of the Booking Confirmations and the definitions of “Merchant” and “Holder” under the CMA CGM B/Ls and concluded that DHL was bound by the terms of the CMA CGM B/Ls. The Booking Confirmations identified DHL as CMA CGM’s client. In addition, the Booking Confirmations incorporated by reference the CMA CGM B/L terms and conditions.

The Court concluded that the objective of this incorporation was to ensure that the same rights, obligations and liabilities applied from the time the booking was made until delivery. As DHL was the only party identified at the time of the booking, the reference to the “customer” in the Booking Confirmations could only refer to DHL, who was thus bound to the terms and conditions of the CMA CGM B/L.

The Court then considered the terms of the B/Ls. It concluded that when DHL exercised its “freight forwarder’s lien” on the B/Ls, DHL became a “holder” of the B/Ls and thus was caught by the definition of “Merchant”. Alternatively, if the B/Ls were held by DHL as agent of the shipper only, DHL was “a person acting on behalf of the shipper”, and was caught by the same definition of “Merchant”. In either case, the freight forwarder was deemed to have acquiesced to be bound by those terms through its actions.

The decision has been appealed and the appeal should be heard this summer. For the time being, it clarifies the obligations and exposure of freight forwarders who exercise a lien on the carrier’s B/L as well as the rights & recourses of shipping lines when caught in the same situation.

BLPL expands capabilities

- ★ Acquires a new ship to facilitate faster response for customers
- ★ IT systems & team add more efficiency with new Tracking tools for customers

Exim News Service

SINGAPORE, Dec. 5

BLPL Singapore, part of Transworld Group Singapore, has announced that it has taken delivery of its third owned container vessel - BLPL Faith. This latest addition to the fleet took place at the Busan Anchorage in Korea on November 24, 2021. It strengthens the company's resources for BLPL SINGAPORE customers, making a total of 14 vessels and 32,000 containers, a release highlighted.

Mr Mahesh Sivaswamy, Chairman and Managing Director of Transworld Group Singapore, said, "BLPL, the shipping and logistics arm of the Transworld Group (TGLS), has made major milestones in its growth. I'm very proud of what the team has achieved - not just in capacity but also in the range of intermodal containers".

Growth in Capacity and Services

With a modest beginning of 300 TEUs in 2007, BLPL reached 5,000 TEUs by 2010. In the same year, the company offered reefers to customers, and soon moved from being an NVO (Non-vessel Operator) to ship owner with its first Liner in 2012. By December, BLPL had already touched 16,000 TEUs, an impressive feat.

The year 2012 also marked a new chapter with the formation of Transworld GLS taking over the agency and logistics solutions of BLPL. The well-timed move enabled the company to increase its inventory strength, which doubled in the next five years to reach 32,000 TEUs.

Today the Transworld GLS, with its established presence in over 10 countries, covers all logistics needs from door pick-up at origin to door delivery at destination.

Mahesh added, "BLPL prides itself on maintaining a high level of adaptability towards changing market conditions. Mahesh's motto is 'Action Without Delay is the secret of his Success', and thankfully the number of customers, trade partners and service providers has grown with us".

BLPL counts among its successes the prestigious Enterprise 50 Awards which it achieved over five consecutive years from 2012. Presented

Mr Mahesh Sivaswamy
Chairman & Managing Director,
Transworld Group Singapore

Mr Raja Vikraman
CEO, BLPL

by KPMG and Singapore's Business Times, the most outstanding companies are recognised for their performance. In 2016, BLPL had the honour of being the number one company at the awards.

Delivering Logistics Expertise and Reaching Niche Markets

Looking ahead, BLPL plans to expand its range of logistics solutions into more markets. Equipped with a sizeable fleet of 3,000 x 40' reefers and over 700 ISO tanks, BLPL will explore new sectors. Currently, BLPL covers over 28 countries and 120 destinations. Its reefer fleet, which first tapped Far East sectors, has now expanded into the Indian Subcontinent, South East Asia and Middle East.

Mr Raja Vikraman (Vikram), CEO of BLPL, elaborated, "Our mainstay is flexibility. BLPL has been a pioneer in introducing new routes. The first was the Yangon to India route; then Thailand to West India; South East Asia to Middle East, and we will keep adding to this list. We are not a scheduled operator and therefore can nimbly deploy our vessels as direct services in a short time".

In-house IT experts improve efficiency

Another aggressive move has been towards the digitisation of the business. The team of in-house IT professionals develops and supports the software systems for BLPL. There are now app-based applications to enable customers to do seamless tracking, internal inventory systems to manage efficient usage of container assets, software to enable more efficient connections at the transhipment hub: all of which are efficiencies which have been passed on to customers.

"We've witnessed the toughest shipping phases since the date of inception in 2007: from the Great Recession to the latest Pandemic Times. Every journey leads us to discover new prospects even as the team emerges stronger. There are exciting times ahead," Vikram concluded.

Several Rotterdam terminals to be ready for hydrogen imports by 2025
Exim News Service

ROTTERDAM, Dec. 5

IN the port of Rotterdam, the first companies are busily preparing for the storage, processing and transit of hydrogen: a promising energy carrier that will allow companies to make the transition to climate neutrality.

The port of Rotterdam is in an excellent position to embark on the import, transit and transhipment of this new energy carrier, highlighted a release.

By 2050, demand for this relatively clean energy carrier is expected to increase to 20 Mtonnes, around 18 Mtonnes of which will be imported.

Rotterdam is already familiar with hydrogen in industry and the transhipment of hydrogen carriers such as ammonia. In addition, the port has experience in the transhipment of cold energy carriers such as LNG and chemicals such as methanol. This experience can be applied to the new forms of hydrogen that are anticipated: liquid hydrogen, ammonia and LOHCs. Rotterdam's extensive, existing tank storage and infrastructure for hydrogen and hydrogen carriers add to the port's appeal as an import location. Companies will be able to develop existing fossil energy assets for hydrogen and hydrogen carriers.

All port areas - from Pernis to Maasvlakte 2 - have the potential to import hydrogen. Depending on the volumes, import is possible in all of these port areas, both in terms of space and safety, and from an environmental and navigational point of view. Four companies working in refining, energy and tank storage are actively preparing to import hydrogen. It looks like they will have both the physical space and the licences to import, process and export hydrogen in various forms by 2025. In addition, several companies are preparing to free up physical and/or environmental space by restructuring their existing product portfolio.

The unique navigational access means there are no restrictions to the safe shipment of hydrogen in Rotterdam, said a release.

Mahindra Logistics in transaction representing India's largest warehousing facility in a single park
Exim News Service

MUMBAI, Dec. 5

MAHINDRA Logistics (MLL), one of India's largest Third-Party Logistics (3PL) solution providers, and LOGOS, a leading Asia-Pacific logistics specialist, have announced a long-term lease agreement for 1.4 million square feet (mmsf) of warehouse facilities at the LOGOS Luhari Logistics Estate in Delhi-NCR. The transaction represents India's largest warehousing facility in a single park, as per a release.

Under the agreement, LOGOS will develop three Grade-A warehouses totaling 1.4 mmsf for MLL at the LOGOS Luhari Logistics Estate. The first 0.5 mmsf warehouse, which was completed in mid-2021, is fully operational. The other two warehouses are currently under development with delivery in late 2021 and early 2022, respectively.

The new warehouses will be an important part of MLL's pan-India network of multi-client facilities that manage the fulfilment and distribution of its clients' services within the e-commerce, consumer and engineering industries. The facilities are designed in line with MLL's sustainability standards, including Liquid Discharge Management and Renewable Energy and Waste Management requirements and state-of-the-art automation. MLL will employ over 2,500 personnel and third-party associates across these facilities, the release added.
